Indiana Rye whiskey is brought to Texas where we age it in our warehouses and finish it in old Port Wine Casks. The Texan sun influences the rate and strength of flavor imparted into the whiskey. Some casks take longer than others. The team tastes the whiskey finishing in the Port Wine Casks regularly until the optimal flavors are achieved, before batching, proofing and bottling.

WHY DOES THIS WHISKEY TASTE SO GOOD?

PLACE / PROVENANCE

The Milam & Greene Distillery is located in the beautiful Texas Hill Country, a place where extreme temperature swings that range from extreme 100+ heat to frigid ice storms mixed with crazy humidity levels that give way to both drought and flooding within weeks, drive flavor into the whiskey aging in our casks. Some of our barrel's age for their entirety in Texas, others spent their younger years in other states before traveling down to Texas Hill Country for final aging.

TWO TYPES OF DISTILLATION

Our team distills in both Texas on small copper pot stills that produce a fuller flavor profile AND in Kentucky on continuous column stills that yield a lighter more delicate spirit using the exact same team of people, our proprietary mashbill (70% corn, 22% malted rye and 8% malted barley) and the brands personal flair.

EXPERIENCE YIELDS RESULTS

Our team honed their craft while working for whiskey brands throughout the country and around the globe, from this they learned that different climates produce different flavor profiles. As such, Milam & Greene casks currently age in rickhouses located across four states each with different terroir and microclimates before joining forces in Texas where the art of aging, finishing, blending and batching are celebrated and executed by the stellar whiskey team.
